To a new student,
High school can be a frightening experience . . .
Causing a mixed feeling of hope, bewilderment, and doubt.

Soon, however, he adjusts to the new environment . . .
In class and out.

He finds enjoyment . . .

Working in classes of his choice . . .

Participating in school activities . . .
Associating with his friends . . .
And utilizing his spare moments.

A student belongs wherever there is . . .
Action,

Excitement,
A challenge,
And a new idea.

Ballard's Best Program

This year saw the initiation of a new program of study, the BEST plan with the seven period day. Short for Ballard's Emancipation of Students and Teachers, the BEST program included such changes as the independent study instead of supervised study halls, and team teaching. Eight resource centers were made available for concentration in a particular subject along with a quiet study and discussion center. The additional period allowed the students to take more electives and to also earn more credits toward graduation. The new program was not only designed to give the students more freedom, but also to test their ability to use their time wisely and to their best advantage.

Ballard's Fashion Scene

Glancing through the halls this past year, one could see an endless variety of fabrics, textures, colors, and styles. The most popular colors were plum, camel, and navy blue. Military influences showed up in the many styles with brass buttons and epaulets being popular. Girl's skirts were short and worn with knee highs. Suits and tent dresses completed their wardrobes. Boys wore perm press slacks with a variety of shirts and sweaters. The turtleneck sweater was popular with both boys and girls. The students didn't try to dress alike this past year; instead they adapted the modern fashions to suit their individual personalities. It was certainly a year of variety.

Ballard Goes Swedish

Ingela Per and Eva Britt talk between classes

Dear Ballard Students

We knew when we got the opportunity to come to Ballard as exchange students, that we had a great year in front of us. Now when it is over we know that it was better than we ever thought it could be. Why? It is because of the people in Ballard, both teachers and students, who have been so helpful and friendly to us. We appreciated everything you did for us, especially on Sweden Day. When we now are going back we leave with a sorrow in our minds, and a strange feeling that we are going to miss Ballard. We will always remember the school spirit and all our friends. You helped us understand more about the American people. Hope you feel the same about the Swedes.

Snow-Covered Slopes Lure Student Skiers

Tor tries his hand at mastering the slopes

The beginning of the skiing year proved to be a rather disheartening period of rain. Finally by the end of December, better snow conditions prevailed and the mass migration of ski loving individuals went into high gear. This year, students taking P.T.A. lessons had a choice of going on Saturday or Sunday to either Ski Acres or Summit. Spring skiing had a late start, too. However once it arrived, we had the usual epidemic of crutches, casts, and sunburned faces. The increasing number of Ballard students who ski is only small proof of the growing popularity of this sport.

Ballard Football '66

This year, Ballard's football team was rated very low in the pre season Metro standings, but the experts seemed to be wrong again, as the Beavers gained an auspicious start with three victories in a row. Coach Quackenbush, in his first year as head coach, held high hopes for his team. Then disaster struck in the form of three humiliating defeats. The first came at the hands of Lincoln in a muddy battle, then came Ingraham's revenge and Ballard's foggy demise in Shoreline's stadium. Yet the team inspired by the spirit of the student body, came back in the biggest upset of the season over Roosevelt. Then the Beavers won the Metro Bow from Queen Anne in a final game rout, finishing 3rd in the North Division and 5th in the city.

Although the season was somewhat poor in respect to wins and losses, the juniors did gain valuable experience for varsity next year. They were close to success all season but were never quite able to gain a victory. Even though they failed to win a game, their excellent sportsmanship and spirit represented the school well.

This year was a season of new coaches on our athletic teams. The sophomore football team was no exception. Dick Watson, a former student of Ballard, took over the helm as the sophomores emerged with a fairly successful season. They showed great potential, but lack of experience slowed them to 5th place in the highly competitive North Division. Roy Ikeda assisted Watson and like the players, gained valuable experience that will be useful in coming years.

“Of Thee We Sing”

The song and yell leaders have again carried on the tradition of promoting pep and enthusiasm among the students. The year 1966-1967 was one of the outstanding years for support for the Beavers by the students as well as the song and yell leaders. They carried their support all through the year with football, basketball, cross country, baseball, and spring track and were appreciated by all.

Cross Country '66—Determination . . .

The 1966 Edition of Ballard's Cross-Country team was sparked by two of the city's best runners. One of them, Ken Theusen, finished 3rd overall in the All Metro meet. Larry Perkins, Ballard's other top runner, finished 5th in the meet. Although the team had the punch of these excellent runners, their overall impression on the league was a bit disappointing.

Despite the loss of valuable lettermen the Beaver's were well represented in state meets. Coach Henning dedicated valuable time to a sport which receives little recognition. The team, following tradition, combined sportsmanship, effort and desire and continued to give Ballard a good name in the Metropolitan League program for athletic events.

City Champs '67

For once, Ballard was considered 'the team to beat' by the experts. It turned out to be that way as Ballard continually won its games with polished precision. Nobody's perfect, however, and Ballard finally lost its first game to the quick, coordinated team from Garfield. Another defeat came at the hands of Lincoln in the very next game, but Ballard came back from their defeats to meet Garfield for a second time in the City Championship. This time the Beavers edged the Bulldogs from first place to become the number one team in the city. Unfortunately, Ballard was defeated in the first game of the State Tournaments by Renton, who later took the State Championship. Some taste of victory came, though, when the Beavers avenged a previous defeat at the hands of Burlington Edison by trouncing them in the last game of the season for Ballard.

Intramurals

The Intramural program this year provided a new aspect for both boys and girls. Boys were able to participate in wrestling for the first time and were also available for basketball, football, table tennis and the other annual sports. Both boys and girls enjoyed gymnastics and tumbling. The weight room, equipped with the exercising and developing machine, was available for boys and was used with profitable results. Since winning or losing was not of prime importance, the students were able to have fun and relax. Also new for the year was a great improvement in physical fitness in the gym classes. Boys' gym students were also permitted to use the weight room and girls broadened their knowledge through bowling and archery.

Baseball '67

This year, Ballard had a good stock of returning lettermen. Even though the competition in the North was very stiff, Coach King, as always, held fairly high hopes for the team's success. They were supported by an excellent pool of juniors and sophomores. The J V s were coached for the first season this year by Roy Ikeda. It looked to be a rewarding season for both teams.

Mr. Kemmerling

Mr. Kemmerling, after coaching the Ballard team to a commendable third place finish last year, expected an even more successful season this year. # FACULTY

You belong wherever you are active where you are participating and where you are making a contribution. You also belong in direct proportion to your activity, participation, and contribution.

You may question whether the manner in which you belong in Ballard High School or in the Ballard Community is of great consequence as far as your later life is concerned. Here again, I contend that "your place in the world" will be directly related to how you "belonged" to Ballard.

Over twenty thousand graduates have made the transition from success at Ballard High School to success in later life, and it would be difficult to determine the degree of success in each case.

There are many ways you can belong in Ballard through curriculum and activities. The extent and quality of your belonging may very well determine where and how you will belong in the world of tomorrow.

They Strive To Make The Program Work

Where do you belong? Aye, that's the question. Many of us still don't know the answer. This is a question that has its roots somewhere in junior high but which takes on more and more meaning as you enter Ballard and progress toward graduation.

The answer to the question can only be found as you answer some other questions about yourselves. What kind of a person are you? What are your abilities? What are your weaknesses?

These years at Ballard are the years when you can and should do some experimenting and searching to find these answers. For you seniors this particular search and experiment is over. You will be zeroing in on a vocational choice and you will be zeroing in on a choice of marriage partner. You will be taking your place as blue collar, as white collar, and as professional workers. And you will marry and have children and start a new generation—to find their place at Ballard.

Counselors Help Students Plan For Future

Under the direction of our new head counselor Mr. Gary Calkins, the Counseling Staff helped many Ballard students solve their problems. The counselors gave vocational guidance, helped with college registration, and attempted to find solutions to the students' personal problems.

A key word of the Ballard administration this year was independence. The independent study period placed more responsibility on the individual student. It gave the student an opportunity to use the available resource centers at his convenience. This study program also gave the student more freedom, and created a college-like atmosphere at Ballard.

Ballard Offers Many Languages

For the first time Ballard offered Norwegian taught by Mrs. Solfrid Aslanian. Also with the return of Mr. John Guertler, Russian was offered. Other languages that remained popular were Spanish, French, German, and Latin. To improve the language usage of each student, the resource center and language lab were both great assets. The language lab had many films and tapes while the resource center had foreign language books available.

There also was Photography, which was formerly handled by the Science department. New equipment included a pug mill for reconditioning clay, saving time and materials. Students also had the opportunity to work toward Art scholarships.

Art And Home Economics Promote Talents

New personalities in the Home Economics department this year were Mrs. Caroline Jones who taught foods and Mrs. Laura Pressey who taught Home living and Home management. Another approach in two home living classes was with the blocked class taught by Mr. King. Extra time gained by the blocking enabled classes to take field trips for price comparing and marketing in the Foods class. Clothing was taught by Mrs. Alice Scott, the head of the department.

Scientific Discoveries Reveal New Facts

There were many different types of sciences offered at Ballard this past year. These included Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Electronics, Botany, and Physical Science.

The science resource center provided a place where students could work on experiments, receive help on problems, and do research. There was usually a teacher on hand in S-3 to help the students with their problems. In addition, there was scientific equipment available for use in experiments.

New Skills Are Developed In Industrial Arts

A new class was added to the Industrial Arts curriculum this year. For the first time at Ballard a class in Gas Engines was offered to girls. # Physical Education Develops Coordination

Physical education is a daily activity that enables the student to develop physical skills and recreational activities. The variety of physical skills gives the student time to show his talents. The great ability to display your talents in these activities can enable you to get a scholarship. You may even get one to the college of your choice.

Students Enjoy Varied Classes

Senior Health teaches students human biology, sex education and first aid

Independent study enables students to use the various resource centers. It also gives the privilege of coming late or leaving early.

The Music Department develops the potential of the students to make a high quality of music in the choral and instrumental departments. Both departments take part in many school activities throughout the year.

The library provides an excellent resource center, where students can use their independent study time working on assignments and doing research. The librarian staff, as well as keeping a wide variety of new books available, helps in the organizing and care of the reading material.

The secretarial staff keeps lines of communication open and helps our school run smoothly. Their job is one of great importance.

Custodians And Kitchen Staff Provide Service

There are two groups of people which deserve much recognition for the services they perform. They are both an essential part of Boardman and the school could not function properly without their help.

The custodial engineers provide us with clean, warm rooms each school day. Their job is an endless one and requires much necessary work.

The Kitchen staff provides an economical and nourishing meal for many hungry students and faculty members. The staff also prepares meals for special banquets and dinners which are not during school hours.

It would be very difficult to have a functioning school without the services of these people. They play an important role in the running of our school, and their contributions are invaluable.

ASB: Hub Of Our Activities And Ideas

ASB started the year by winning the annual activity card sale contest, or "Paddle Battle", with West Seattle. This was followed by "Great Pump-k'n Week" in October. Successful money making activities were the Beanie Sale and the Candy Sale, both of which took place in November. December 6th was proclaimed Sweden Day in honor of Ballard's three Swedish exchange students. In January the KJR Faculty basketball game was played to raise more money for the school. Other activities which took place in the spring included "The Snoose Junction Function", "Love Ballard Week", and "White Day". Aside from these special activities ASB also planned assemblies and promoted pep.

Honor Society Builds Scholastic Abilities

Honor Society members were informed about club activities, scholarships, and colleges through the new newspaper, "The Honorable Mentions." Tutors and supervisors provided a needed service by helping in all of the resource centers. Honor students received their second semester independent study hall cards before the rest of the student body. As well as presenting pep assemblies, a few special assemblies were given just for those in Honor Society. In the spring the club was in charge of the annual White Day dance.

Boys' Activities

Boys' Club, under the guidance of Mr. Goldstein, participated in many activities this past year. The club headed the canned food drive, held just before Thanksgiving, the March of Dimes and White Day. The Boys' Club sponsored and co-sponsored some of the pep assemblies, including the annual Sports Assembly, and some of the dances. With the future in mind, the Boys' Club, arranged the new career conferences held at the school. Ballard's field patrol did its part this year by providing a clear area for those entertaining in the many activities.

The Lettermen's Club was on duty throughout the year by acting as our hall patrol. The club created a great deal of enjoyment by making the always popular Lettermen-Faculty game possible.

Choir: A Search For Expression

Over fifty performances made up the schedule of the Concert Choir, Cadet Choir, and the Chorale all under the direction of Mr. Bune. The highlight of the year will be a trip to Wales in the summer. The 1967 graduates and a few former members of the Concert Choir will attend an international singing contest. Students had the opportunity to learn to play the guitar and recorder at school for the first time this year. This enabled them to expand their talents. In the fall, the Chorale sang selections from the musical, Man Of La Mancha, on Channel Nine Television. Then in the spring, the choir was featured at Seattle Pacific College and the orchestra and choir presented a weekend concert at Grant High School in Portland.

The Man Who Came To Dinner

On December 2 and 3 "The Man Who Came to Dinner" by Moss Hart and George Kaufman was presented by the Drama classes. The play was concerned with Sheridan Whiteside's stay at the Stanley's home after he fell on their front porch. Whiteside completely dominated the Stanley household and all of the people around him. "The Man Who Came to Dinner" was a satire on many modern day institutions including the false image that celebrities project, the medical profession, an idea prison system, and the typical middle class parents.

"Dino"

"Dino," a stage and screen production was presented on March 30 and April 1. Drama classes wrote most of the script. Ballard was one of the few high schools in the country ever to use the technique of filming various sequences. The story of "Dino" concerned a boy who returned home after spending four years in a reform school and tried to adjust to normal life. Dino's parents were inadequate to face the problems, and efforts by his parole officer and psychotherapist were not sufficient to save him from his environment.

Clubs Promote World Understanding

The main purpose of the Spanish Club is to stimulate interest in the customs and cultures of Spanish speaking countries. Helping students to accept French as a normal means of daily expression is the goal of the French Club. The Latin Club or Junior Classical League, was organized to promote interest in the study of the Latin civilization and language. The German and Russian Clubs bring students in closer contact with the languages they study. The German Club exchanged a scrapbook of news and cultural items with a high school in Germany. New this year, the Norwegian Club is of special interest and importance in a predominantly Scandinavian community.

Shingle: The Record Of Ballard 1967

As a part of the effort to make the 1967 Shingle unique, a photo essay printed on different paper was added. The senior activity index gave students the opportunity to list more activities. Also it made it possible for other sections to have more pages. Staff members were always busy making layouts, cropping pictures, and writing copy and running heads. In spite of all problems, the yearbook was finally completed.

Talisman Reports Activities And Ideas

Written by one of the smallest staffs that the Talisman has ever had, the paper contained a great variety of stories. During the summer some of the staff worked on the paper so that an introductory issue could be put out the first day of school. This year's issues had many features all of which were given extensive picture coverage. Writing stories, obtaining advertising and working on many other things went into meeting each deadline so that everyone could read about the important and interesting event of the year.

Sophomore Classes

The Class of '69 began their years at Ballard and the beginning of their scrap book with the election of the class officers. Pictures of each activity are kept in the scrapbook.

Sophomore Cabinet worked together to organize many class activities, the first being held on November 10, when they sponsored a very original pep assembly. The song and yell leaders from Roosevelt helped to make it a success. They held a second pep assembly on January 6. Some teachers posed as song leaders.

On January 28 the Consolidated Rocks entertained for their dance, "Rocking In A Winter Wonderland." This was held at the Loyal Heights Playfield.

The sophomores gave assistance to upperclassmen by checking coats at the junior and senior receptions.

During the year, the sophomores realized that they were a necessary part of the student body. They showed this through their enthusiastic pep at the games and at other activities. They gave a lot of support throughout the year. With the first year completed, the Class of '69 looked forward to being upperclassmen. They have made a good addition to Ballard.

Junior Class

The Junior Class began the new year by taking part in various activities. One of the first projects was to sponsor a pep assembly for the Nathan Hale football game. Juniors also raise great enthusiasm by sponsoring pep assemblies before each of the Nathan Hale and the Ingraham basketball games. The theme for the October 22nd dance was "Do it With Soul," by the Soul Sounds. Another dance sponsored by the Juniors was held on February, 11th. Along with sponsoring pep assemblies and dances, Juniors assist with the U G N Drive, and the selling of senior pins. The Junior Reception is considered to be the high point of the year. The color scheme for the decorations were based around the class colors of burgundy and light blue. The reception included entertainment presented in the auditorium, followed by a reception in the lunchroom, where refreshments were served. The scrapbook contains many memories of the year gone by. It consists of all programs, invitations and pictures. After having planned many successful events, Juniors are now capable of taking on the responsibilities of becoming reliable seniors.

Senior Class

The year 1967 brought to a close three active and rewarding years for this year's graduating class. Ballard was a big part of the lives of the seniors and always will be. These past three years will be gone but not forgotten. Many memories, such as "The Man Who Came To Dinner," the Roosevelt pep assembly and football game, the dances, and yes, even the teachers will be in the minds and hearts of Ballard students for years to come. On May 27 at the Olympic Hotel, the seniors made their final contribution to Ballard as they sponsored the prom which had a Greek theme. Then came the big day—graduation, which was held the first part of June. With the reception of a diploma, the seniors' high school days were officially ended. They accepted the challenge of the future and the chance to use the knowledge they've gained through their years at Ballard.
